BARDOLINO: THE ROAD OF VINEYARDS AND ANCIENT BORGHES
On the traces of the Veronese corvine grapes

Along the Veronese vineyards there are many wine roads. We planned to propose an itinerary to discover the Bardolino, a typical wine of the Veronese and among the most famous red wines of northern Italy.

Produced by 120 local wineries in the eastern morainic amphitheater of Lake Garda, Bardolino originates from Veronese corvine grapes grown on an area of approximately 2700 hectares.

It is interesting for 16 municipalities, but only 6 of them belong to the area of ancient production and only the wines that come from this area can be called "Classic". Bardolino is one of these.

Bardolino is on the east bank of Lake Garda and is about 30 km from Verona.

It is a very popular tourist destination as it offers both scenic and architectural views.

It rises on morainic hills covered with olive groves and vineyards while its historic center is full of suggestive corners to discover.

Walk through its many narrow streets, the many shops or on the lake shore is relaxing and at the same time stimulating.

Art lovers are advised to visit the Romanesque church of San Severo and its frescoes as well as to the church of Santa Maria di Cisano.
After the visit of Bardolino, we'll go to the village of Costabella.

Here there is the Wine Museum.

Built in 1991, the museum is divided into thematic areas that tell the various steps of the wine-growing industry: from the cultivation of the vine to the grape harvest, to the transformation of grapes and bottling.
